

Chemins de Fer

The background of the cover is a photograph of a long, multi-track railway bridge spanning a wide river. The bridge is constructed with dark wooden sleepers and steel rails, supported by a series of wooden trestles. The water in the river is turbulent, with white foam from the bridge's piers. In the distance, a steel truss bridge is visible against a clear blue sky. The overall scene is one of industrial infrastructure in a natural setting.
